

THE GLASGOW SCHOOL OF ART

University of Strathclyde
Glasgow

The Art of Getting By

Young People Exploring Poverty Exhibition

Event Guide:

Come and see this exhibition on young people's views of poverty in Scotland, put together by children and young people from Glasgow and Aberdeen, supported by students from Glasgow School of Art. Over 200,000 children are living in poverty in Scotland and this exhibition is the result of young people using art as a medium to explore the issue and to call for action.

This event is part of a series of events exploring 'Children and Young People's Experiences and Views of Poverty: Implications for policy and practice'. Sign up for future events here.

Venue & Registration:

The exhibition runs from 1st – 17th May 2015 and is free to visit.

Scotland Street School Museum
225 Scotland Street
Glasgow G5 8QB

Click this link for information on the venue and opening times.

Audience:

This exhibition is open to all and suitable for children, young people and their families. It will also be of interest to:

- Practitioners working with children through public services such as education, health, leisure and social work
- Service managers and policy makers
- Voluntary sector representatives working with families
- Community groups

Benefits of attending:

- Learn more about poverty 'facts and figures' in Scotland and myths surrounding them.
- Understand children's experiences of poverty and their views on what it's like to grow up poor.
- See how children and young people think poverty should be tackled in Scotland.
- Explore the potential of art to engage children, young people and the general public with complex issues.

Event Organisers:

Daniela Sime
daniela.sime@strath.ac.uk
+44 (0)141 444 8678